P. J. DIVIZICH SENDS EMPERORS TO FINLAND; SHIPS LOCAL GRAPES TO COUNTRIES THROUGHOUT WORLD

Southern Tulare county grapes are now being eaten and enjoyed throughout the world as a result of marketing efforts of P. J. Divizich, prominent Ducor grower and shipper, who last week sent two carloads of Emperors to Helsinki, Finland.

Mr. Divizich states that he received $4.95, fob. San Francisco, for chests of grapes, packed in sawdust. Net weight of each chest ran 34 pounds.

The grapes were trucked to San Francisco and from there went by boat to Finland.

In addition to the Finland shipments, Mr. Divizich has been sending grapes to a number of foreign cities and countries: Manila, Hongkong, Singapore, Penang, Bangkok, Venezuela, Brazil, Cuba and Costa Rico.

Shipped under his trade name, "Holland Brand," Mr. Divizich's selling agent is the California Fruit Exchange. The modern processing and cold storage plant owned and operated by Mr. Divizich is located on highway 65 at Ducor. He has extensive grape acreage in southeastern Tulare county.

BIDS ACCEPTED

Final bids for construction of water facilities in the Woodville Public Utility district were accepted this week, the Winthrop Pump company of Tulare getting the district pump, and installation, at $3,257.58 and the Neptune Meter company getting district meters at $3,229.65.

District office has been set up at the home of Secretary Walt Sommer and applications are being accepted for water and for meters. It is expected that the district may actually deliver water by about June 1.

FIRST HILLTOP EASTER SERVICE WAS HELD IN 1914

(Note: With interest of churchgoers now turning toward the annual Easter sunrise service on Scenic Heights hill north of Porterville, John A. Milligan, a pioneer resident and minister of Porterville, recalls the history of the granite cross that was constructed for this ceremony.)

Mrs. Anna L. Norris, a charter member of the Porterville Congregational church, and interested in the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, was visiting some friends at Riverside at Easter time and had the privilege of attending the Sunrise Easter service on Mount Rubidoux.

She was so impressed with the grandeur of the sunrise scene, the great crowd of worshippers and the inspiration of the service that she came home enthused with the idea of having such a service in the Porterville district, where there are more vantage points of inspiring scenery than anywhere in the southland.

First Service

She succeeded in enthusing the young people of the Endeavor society with the plan and on Easter morning, 1914, the first service was held by the young people on the ground where now stands the beautiful granite cross.

Castor Bean Seed Is Now Available To Farmers From Vandalia Producer

Mr. Gunderson, who was one of the first producers of castor beans in the county, states that planting season runs from April 1 to 15, or possibly until May 1 at the latest. He sells the seed in any amount for any acreage.

Cattle On Pasture Need Phenothiazine

In order to control round worms in cattle on permanent pasture, phenothiazine or phenothiazine-mineral mixture, should be available to the cattle as a standard practice, according to Farm Advisor Robert H. Anderson.

A curative dose of phenothiazine

GRASSHOPPERS

Spring surveys of grasshopper egg beds in Kern, Tulare, Madera, Merced, Stanislaus, San Joaquin, Sacramento, Yolo, Colusa, Butte, Glenn, and Tehama counties indicate that in general outbreaks will not be as severe as during 1949. The surveys were made by the county agricultural commission and state department of agriculture entomologists.

for the more serious cases of roundworms should be from 20 to 60 grams in a single treatment for adult animals, or 15 to 40 grams for calves. It can be given as capsules, tablets, in a drench, or mixed with the feed.

Mr. Anderson warns, however, that giving phenothiazine to lactating cows will turn the milk pink on exposure to air for four to seven days following the treatment.

Cattle on irrigated pasture, even though they are believed free from round worms, should have phenothiazine as a preventive measure. A mixture of one part by weight of phenothiazine to ten parts by weight of salt placed before the cattle is recommended. If they will not accept the salt readily, the phenothiazine may be used with a mineral mix.

Some cattle with severe attacks of stomach worms will not respond to any treatment.

FARM VIEW

October 2, 1891

The attendance of Porterville school has somewhat increased since it opened. The number enrolled at opening was 160 and the list now shows an additional 20.

Prof. Turner has 34, Miss Treadwell, 31, Miss Starr, 34, Miss Hines, 41 and Mrs. Shuey, 40.

The third wrestling match took place at Davis' hall Saturday night for a purse of $50. A good crowd was in attendance and all acquiesced in the opinion that it was the most scientific match yet given.

The contestants, Perley P. Putnam and Charles Rankin were both in fine training and equally matched. Putnam's backers say some fouls made by Rankin did not receive due notice but otherwise, all were satisfied.

The first round was a back-hold wrestle in which Putnam soon floored Rankin. After an intermission during which both, by agreement, took a drink of water, the second round, a side-hold wrestle, was engaged in. This being Rankin's strong hold, he, after some difficulty, brought Putnam to the carpet. The third round, a catch-as-catch-can, was also scored by Rankin and he was awarded the match.

It has been whispered that there will soon be two more saloons in Plano, but there is already sufficient of that evil for this place, if we may judge from the series of wildcat yells and general racket which occasionally takes place. The temperance movement is somewhat slow in its progress at Plano.

One thousand head of Angora goats were brought down from the mountains last week for P. Newman. Three hundred head were shipped to San Francisco and the rest will be shipped next week.

T. W. Howell, wife and son, returned from Dayton, Washington, Sunday night, where they been visiting relatives. Their son, C. C. Howell, decided to make Dayton his home, having got a position as "typo" on the Dayton Courier.

There are plenty of good sized carp in the river near Porterville and the boys have fine sport catching them.

Miss Ida Lackey of Gold Hill is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Brey.

Miss Rosie Lewis of Woodville is visiting Miss Gracie Turner this week.

William Shry sold the Mint saloon, Wednesday, to D. B. Mosher of Kernville.

Don't forget, when in Porterville, that John Loyd at the Arlington will give you a first class dinner for 25 cents.

The board of supervisors has fixed the state and county tax level at $1.37 1/2 on the $100. This is 2 1/2 cents more than last year and was added to provide for a squirrel bounty of 2 1/2 cents—about $6,000.

We have received a sample card of zinc alloy pens from St. Paul, Minn., and have found them to be the smoothest writing and best flowing pen we have ever used. It is about equal in smoothness to the goose quill.

Everything is first class at Thompson's Hotel, managed by Capt. H. Williams, at Plano. Meals, domestic style; beds, nice and clean.

E. R. Pease of Visalia was in town visiting and on business, Wednesday.

Detective Len Harris, who was wounded by the Ceres train robbers, has almost recovered from his wound and is expected to soon be out again.

H. Bucksbaum returned from Green's mill last Tuesday.

George H. Lane left for San Francisco the first of the week on a business trip.

The Oak Flat school, R. E. Johnson, teacher, closed last Friday. In the evening a dance was enjoyed at the residence of W. B. Freeburn.

Miss Lillie Rickard was given a surprise party by her school friends at the residence of her mother, Mill and Second, Friday evening.

The Leland Stanford, Jr., University was formally opened, Thursday. At 10 o'clock, the exercises were opened by Senator Stanford, who was followed by President Jordan of the University. Seating capacity for a thousand persons was arranged.

PIXLEY AIRPORT

Contract of $20,835 for construction of the Pixley airport has been awarded to Rexroath and Rexroath, Bakersfield contractors.

Feed grains will be planted this year to nearly four million more acres in the nation than in 1949.

Lands! It's wonderful to be smart like me! It only took me three years to figure out what the words and numbers on the dial of an automatic washer reminded me of, Sunday, it came to me . . . from my early youth. The teacher's command at dancing school! You remember . . . Soak . . . 1, 2, 3, 4! Off! Wash . . . 1, 2, 3, 4! 1, 2, 3, 4, Rinse! And the whole class shuffled around in an uncertain "circle" feeling and looking like fools!

Our botanical authority made a field trip to our garden recently; so I'm full of information, covered with dirt, and bursting with good intentions and hopes for harvest. Got an asparagus bed? (I'm not meaning this for you commercial growers . . . I know you know more'n I do.) . . . put a mulch on it about four inches deep and side dressings of commercial fertilizer and stand back quick, lest the shoots catch you under the chin. Plant tomato, bell pepper and egg-plant seeds under hot caps now . . . they'll sprout fast, be safe from frost by cap removing time, and by using seeds you get disease-free stock. Plant four seeds under a cap, save the best plants.

The world is full of new inventions these days . . . part of the time we praise 'em, the rest of the time . . . we cuss 'em . . . like the new paving at Putnam and Hockett. The kids love the swish and sway feeling as you go through the dip . . . their fathers cuss it! And Grand-Pappy was perfectly satisfied 50 years ago with the cow-paths as they were! Evolution of clothing has been about the same . . . thought we did fine to have a change of duds once. Then we got high-toned and sent things to be dry-cleaned. Eventually, they lost the "new" look and feel; so now there is a new invention to re-texture the cloth. It gives cloth back its natural sheen, body, and crumple-resistance. PROCTOR'S CLEANERS, Putnam and Fourth have the exclusive on it. All clothes that go to Proctor's get the treatment now. You can notice the difference after one trip . . . after about three trips to the plant, your material has completely regained its youth.

And if you got hold of or hear about those leaflets that "They" were handing out at the Roosevelt rally Monday morning . . . take another look! Those were not Democrat leaflets! I'm just as rock-ribbed, hide-bound, bull-headed and stiff-necked, reactionary, old Republican as you . . . But! I will not see such filth pinned on my good neighbors, the Democrats. Did the "Holy City Riker" outfit have a license to pass out stuff, I'd like to know! Or did they just get by?

It's easy to be fooled that way . . . "seeing is believing", we like to say; but it often is not! All women with curly hair were not born that way! All permanents are not alike either. Last week I saw the result of an entirely new kind. The wave was loose, soft and still permanent! To feel the hair, you'd swear that it was a natural curl. It's a new "liquid" wave, the secret is in the neutralizer solution that "sets" the wave so that it lasts as long as any but has all the virtues I've mentioned. Next time, call 107-W and make an appointment at FLORENCE PEAK'S BEAUTY SALON.

Almost forgot, asparagus should be chilled immediately after you pick it. It loses its freshness and changes chemically unless you hurry. It's frozen food season again now and asparagus is one of the easiest and best things to store in a locker. Miss Cowgill, the county home advisor, has a fine booklet that I'll be glad to get for you . . . tells all about everything, even how big a locker you need. Frozen food is only as good as you make it . . . by using top quality food, packaging and fast freezing. For your home freezer, buy your packaging materials and ready frozen foods such as fish and ice cream at JONES' LOCKER SERVICE on W. Olive. They can give you good buys. They rent lockers and offer every locker service for home freezers.

Cacti and succulents, both house-plants and garden types need weekly irrigations now; when they are blooming, twice-weekly doses. After that, start drying them off so that by October they get no more than rain water 'til next spring. Transplanted shrubs and trees that look sick should have shade on the west side and maybe over-head 'til fall . . . burlap and a few stakes will do the job.

I'm glad everything in the world isn't new; it makes me feel much better to know that the Easter we are about to celebrate is an ancient idea. Guess there is hardly a sign of civilization in the world that didn't carry-on about re-birth and the return of life in the spring. All succeeding peoples have carried on the traditions and I'm farmer enough to take joy in participating in the spring celebrations. I also enjoy sharing it by exchanging gifts. Stop in at 600 N. "D" St. and see the hilarious animal figurines in Easter Bonnets (pottery) and the beautiful childrens books, the young-uns will take to bed with 'em, and the lovely hand bags of hand-woven fabric, handmade in four styles. They are famous, white, and washable . . . perfect examples of the superlative merchandise at BREY'S BOOK SHELF.

Wierd Assortment Of Characters Plague The Sherwood Girls In "My Sister Eileen"

The wierdest assortment of characters ever seen plague the two Sherwood sisters in their distressing little basement apartment in Greenwich Village in "My Sister Eileen" opening at the Barn Theater April 13th.

Anybody can walk in through the lockless door, and almost everybody does. A mysterious caller, Mr. Fletcher (Charles Scott) wanders in and calmly announces that "Marty at the Airport sent me" and then refuses to leave.

He casts something of a doubt about the character of previous tenant, which is then uncomfortably confirmed by the appearance of Violet (Ann B. Davis) in what might be best described as a passed-out condition. As if such casual callers as these weren't peculiar enough, Ruth (Kaye Holmes) and Eileen (Ann Lumsden of Springville) also have to contend with the punchy janitor Jensen (Mack Halladay) as he blythely attempts to knock the walls down around their ears.

Slightly hysterical neighbor (Cash Adams of Exeter) pops in and out, and two wolves, human, (Ben Cole and Dave Weaver) assist in making the poor girls lives unbearable.

As a welcome breath of normality in the midst of mayhem, two completely rational people enter the scene; Robert Baker (Eugene Burmeister) and the girl's long-suffering father (H. E. Salisbury). Their sanity provides only a brief respite from the mad riot that is created in "My Sister Eileen" opening in Lindsay April 12, moving to Porterville April 13, 14, 15, 16, then to Strathmore the 18th, back to Porterville April 20, 21, 22, and 23. The show will end it's run in Visalia May 15th; reserved seats for the Porterville run are now available at Claubes' Pharmacy, phone 77.

Roosevelt States Opinion In County Visit

Campaigning for governor of the state of California, Democrat James Roosevelt addressed a group of citizens Monday morning in front of the Porter theatre in Porterville to open a quick speaking tour through the county.

Introduced by Tulare County Democratic Central committee member, J. Claude Nelson, the 42-year-old son of the late F.D.R. launched an attack upon the present state administration and gave his opinion on matters of political importance.

He said that his opponents had done nothing but administer "lip service" to the farm labor problem; that a tax revision was long overdue; that sales taxes are unfair in principle.

Mr. Roosevelt said that if elected he would provide school housing and qualified teachers and would then "go ahead and teach such things as conservation."

He cited a need for a sound federal retirement plan; he said that he would push the Central Valley Project, including the 160-acre clause advocated that minimum age for pensions be set at 60 years; said that he would seek to provide jobs for persons from 50 years of age on up; expressed disfavor of the "loyalty oath" idea but said all cooperation should be given the F.B.I. in feeding Communists out of government and expressed favor of farm labor unemployment insurance administered under the social security act.

Mr. Roosevelt professed to have one of the greatest political educations possible, and said he would carry the fight for pensions and other things to the nation's capitol.

Gift Corn Has Pest Worm

Gift ears of corn, mailed recently as a publicity stunt from Battle Creek, Michigan, in special tubes, are carrying worms of the European corn borer, an insect pest that has not yet invaded California.

In order that the borer does not get a start in California, all persons receiving ears of corn through the mail should immediately take them to the agricultural commissioners in Visalia, or to an agricultural inspector in this district.

The corn borers not only damage corn, but also work on a number of shrubs and food plants.

Weeds and cover crops should be turned under before new tree growth starts in order that soil can warm up faster.

Official Status Of Highway 65

In reply to a communication from the road committee of the Porterville chamber of commerce concerning status of highway 65 in the Porterville vicinity, State Senator J. Howard Williams has given the following information.

At present the state highway department and the Tulare county planning commission are working to determine definitely which county roads will cross the proposed new highway.

After this is determined and after plans and designs are completed, an appraisal of property will be made, after which acquisition of rights-of-way will begin. This planning will take about five months.

The Tulare county planning commission will present its findings to the Tulare county board of supervisors who in turn, must pass a resolution stating roads that will have access and those that will be closed.

Money has been appropriated for acquiring rights-of-way when final determination on these matters has been made.

PETER de PAOLO FISH AND GAME DINNER SPEAKER

Tickets for their annual banquet, Monday, April 24, are now being sold by members of the Southern Tulare County Sportsmen's association and Peter de Paolo, famous automobile racing driver who twice won the Memorial day classic at Indianapolis, has been booked as speaker of the evening.

De Paolo, now retired, will be accompanied to Porterville by Earl Cooper, another former top racing driver. Mr. and Mrs. de Paolo and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will be guests at the Norman Vossler home, Woodville, during their visit to Tulare county.

Leading the ticket sales committee are: J. Claude Nelson and Earl Reed; sub-committee are Ken Fox, Springville; Dr. Chester Sewell, Strathmore; C. D. Wiley, Terra Bella; Ray Hutchinson, Poplar and Walt Sommer, Woodville.

George Cole, Starthmore, will be in charge of banquet preparation; Mr. Fox, assisted by members of the Sequoia National Forest staff, will decorate the hall; Mr. Sommer will be in charge of table decoration and Mr. Nelson, in charge of the program.

Major League Baseball Slated For Broadcast

Broadcasts of major league baseball games, direct from the field, will be heard daily during the season, over radio station KTIP, Porterville, beginning Saturday, April 1, 10:45 A. M., it was announced this week by Jack Tighe, station owner.

Outstanding game of the day will be heard in the broadcast, with double headers on Sunday. The broadcasts will be both live and "instant recreation." Prior to opening of the major league season, spring training games will be heard.

CATTLE ZONE

Tulare county will be included in Zone No. 2 of a new cattle movement inspection plan that will be put into operation in the state of California April 1.

In the zone are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey, Madera, Kings, Tulare, Kern, San Luis Obispo and parts of Merced, Mariposa and Ventura counties.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

Mr. Wm. Rodgers, Editor
The Farm Tribune,
522 N. Main St.,
Porterville, California
Dear Editor and Fellow Poland China Hog Breeder:

I have just read in your "We Only Heard" column a rather Braggish challenge; especially so for a man so new in the business of breeding Poland China Hogs and one who perhaps has had very limited experience in the fitting and exhibiting in our top livestock shows. As you stated I have been quite successful in showing at some of the smaller shows such as The State Fair, Cow Palace and others of their calibre, but I want to assure you that The Monache Herd will be identified at the Biggest Livestock Show of all to be held at the Rocky Hill arena on May 25 thru 28, 1950. As for the TOUGH competition supposedly furnished by The Farm Tribune Herd, we of Monache will welcome it and only wish you the best of success in backing up your challenge.

Confidentially My Lad, we feel very, very, sorry for you and now that this matter has been mentioned to the public you may need more than "Fair Spirits."

Sincerely yours,

Rolla L. Bishop

Ed. Note—Hmmm. We'll think that over for a week.

Marketing Order Assent Deadline

State Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock this week announced that the closing date for the filing of written assents to the marketing order for California fresh plums and a similar marketing order for fresh peaches has been extended to April 15, 1950.

Under the state assent sign-up procedure, a marketing order cannot be made effective unless state department of agriculture has received assents from producers to the extent of 51 per cent by number and 65 per cent by volume, or conversely 65 per cent by number and 51 per cent by volume. With respect to handlers the assent requirements are sixty-five per cent by number or by volume.

The marketing orders would in each case be administered by industry advisory boards consisting of both producers and handlers. The boards would be authorized to recommend the establishment of grade and size regulations for fresh plums and fresh peaches marketed within the state of California.

Singer Sewing Center To Open

The firm will offer a free, eight-lesson sewing course with the purchase of a sewing machine or vacuum cleaner and will also conduct evening sewing classes for adults and youngsters.

All local help is being employed at the new store.

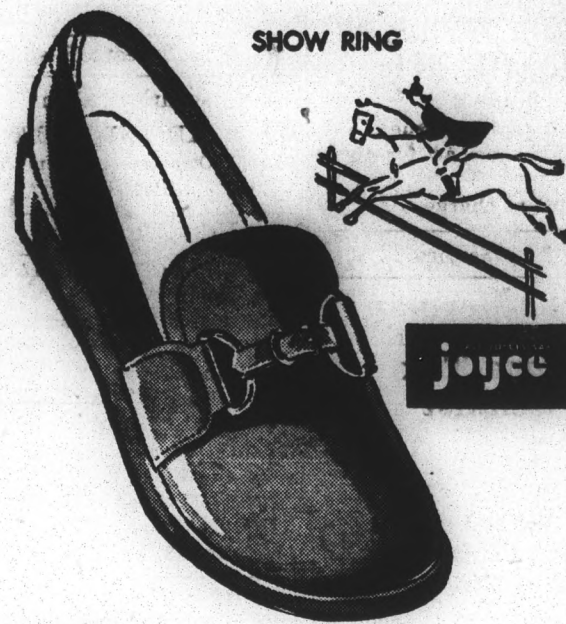

EGGS UP

Farm poultry flocks in the United States laid 5,217 million eggs in February, according to the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service, a figure eight per cent above the previous year and 22 per cent over the 1939-48 average.

California egg production ran 268,000,000 eggs, about 17 per cent over February of 1949.

A fair volume of artichokes are now moving by rail from California producing areas.

Alfalfa hay acreage in Cali-1,058,000 acres, 10 per cent above fornia as of March 1 is estimated 1949 and the largest on record.

QUESTIONS OF FARMERS ABOUT ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS, SUPPORTS ANSWERED BY MARKETING HEAD

Farm operators who grow more than one crop subject to acreage allotments in 1950 got answers this week to some of their questions concerning eligibility for price supports from E. H. Spoor, chairman of state Production and Marketing Administration committee.

Crops currently subject to acreage allotments, according to Mr. Spoor, include wheat, cotton, rice, peanuts, potatoes, and dry edible beans. Where acreage allotments are in effect, farmers will not be required to use the acreage diverted from production of the crop in any specific manner.

Eligibility for price support on a particular crop will be determined independently, Mr. Spoor said. For example, if a producer complies with his farm wheat acreage allotment, he will be eligible for 1950 wheat supports whether or not he has planted in excess of his acreage allotment for cotton, potatoes, or any other crop. Producers who exceed their acreage allotment for any particular crop will not be eligible for price supports on that crop.

Where a producer owns or has an interest in more than one farm producing a commodity subject to acreage allotment, provisions vary according to the commodity.

For potatoes, a producer who has more than one farm must comply with acreage allotments on all farms in which he has an interest; for instance, if he exceeds his potato allotment on any one farm, he will not be eligible for price support on any potatoes produced on any of his farms.

For wheat and cotton, a producer with more than one farm will be eligible for price support only if the sum of his shares of the actual acreage of the commodity on all his farms does not exceed the sum of his shares of the acreage allotments for the commodity on all his farms.

However, such a producer will receive price support only on the production from those individual farms where the individual farm acreage allotment has not been exceeded. Thus, if a producer's total wheat allotment is exceeded, the producer will not be eligible for any wheat price support, even though he keeps within the wheat allotment on some of the farms in which he has an interest.

These are the general rules governing producer eligibility for price support on 1950 crops, Mr. Spoor said, and farmers who have further questions should check with their PMA county office. Responsibility for determination of producer compliance rests with the PMA county and state committees.

Surplus Spuds In California Were Not Wasted

While the situation concerning the potato program in the nation has been subject to considerable criticism for the past two years, some misleading facts have been circulated.

L. D. Flory, chairman of the PMA County committee states that a report received from the PMA State committee shows that in the state of California the government purchased 1,323,865 hundred weight of potatoes at a cost of $1,946,532.00, and that beneficial use was made of all potatoes purchased.

Eighty-one thousand hundred weight were distributed to school lunch and welfare outlets and the remainder was sold for livestock feed, as school lunch and welfare organizations could not use all the potatoes purchased.

None of the potatoes purchased by the government in California were left on or in the ground to rot. None of them were burned, as stated in one magazine, nor were any of them used as fertilizer, Mr. Flory says.

Cutworm Control

Cutworms and grape bud beetles may be controlled in vineyards through use of DDT, says Fred Jensen, Tulare County farm advisor.

DDT dusts may be applied with a hand duster at the rate of 30-40 pounds of five per cent dust; two pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT per 100 gallons of water, with one-half gallon of dormant oil emulsion may be used at the rate of 150-200 gallons per acre or vapor-dusting may be used, with 5-6 gallons of 2.4 per cent DDT per acre.

Castor Beans

Castor bean variety tests conducted in Tulare county indicates that castor beans will produce well under favorable growing conditions in the county, according to Farm Advisor Ralph Worrell, in commenting on variety tests conducted on the Julius Damann ranch west of Strathmore in 1949.

Five different varieties were grown, with four repetitions of each test. A leaflet on growing castor beans is available in the office of the farm advisor, post-office building, Visalia.

POULTRY LAB.

Available to poultrymen of Tulare county are the services of a new poultry pathology laboratory, operated by the state department of agriculture at 714 Santa Anita street, San Gabriel, California.

In charge of Dr. E. E. Jones, the laboratory is one of four in California that provides free service to poultrymen and veterinarians on diagnosis of poultry diseases, possible treatment and instruction on disease prevention.

YOU CAN'T WIN IF YOU'RE NOT IN THE BALLGAME

We're not going to tell you that it is your duty, or your privilege to register and vote; you've probably heard that before. But let's mix a metaphor and consider the business of registration from this angle; If you're not in the ballgame, you can't win.

What we're trying to say is that if you are not registered, you cannot be on any team in the great game of local and national politics, and if you're not on the team, then you have no grounds to complain if the team you like fails to do things you would like to have it do.

And don't say that your vote—that one vote—makes no difference anyway. The Republicans can show you figures to prove that a change of one vote in precincts of the nation two years ago would have completely reversed the national presidential election.

You still have a few more days to register for the primary election next June. Its costs nothing, it gets you into the game, it gives you a chance to voice an opinion in a manner that will do some good.

Register.

LEAFHOPPERS

Fred Jensen, farm advisor, states that if the overwintering population of grape leafhoppers is very light, it may be desirable to apply DDT with the first sulfurizing. Where the overwintering population is not abnormally high, it is best to delay application of DDT until later, at the second or third sulfurizing.

OLIVE DAMAGE

Defoliation of olive trees as a result of frost damage is now evident in some groves of Tulare county, according to Karl W. Opitz, farm advisor.

Mr. Opitz states that frost-damaged trees should not be over-irrigated and, where defoliation is severe, should be whitewashed to prevent sunburning.

Rodent And Pest Control Needed In Citrus Groves

Rodent and pest control are one of the first problems faced when a new citrus orchard is set out, according to H. C. Meith, Tulare county farm advisor.

White washing or wrapping trunks offers sufficient protection against rabbits; gophers should be controlled by trapping; mulching the base of the tree trunks is not recommended since they may bring an increase in mice.

Normally, only pest control necessary is for thrips; if California fire ants give trouble, remove wraps, if tree are wrapped, and dust soil around tree with chlordane.

Gratton Dalton Escapes From County Jail; Brother Sings Songs, Is Put In Dark Cell; County Is "Mortified" To Hear Of Incident

Considerable consternation was caused in Tulare county when the famous train robber, Gratton Dalton, escaped from the county jail in Visalia, the Farm View, a Porterville newspaper, carrying the following account in its October 2, 1891 issue.

Gratton Dalton, who was convicted of complicity in the Allia train robbery and was to appear for sentence Monday, broke jail in Visalia Sunday evening and is now at large.

He is supposed to be well armed and as he once said he would never "cross the bay", will be a desperate man to corner.

Dummy In Bed

In the afternoon, the prisoners are given the run of the jail and at night they are confined to their cells. Dalton had been confined at night in an iron cell known as the tank. He had prepared a dummy and placed it on his cot and when the jailer went around on his evening tour of inspection, seeing the supposed man in bed, concluded all was right, and passed on.

Dalton is supposed to have been on top of the tank, and when night fell lent help to his scheme, he crawled down, and after liberating W. B. Smith, who was convicted of burglary, and J. Beck, who was awaiting trial for horse stealing, the trio unlocked the back doors, passed out and then relocked them. They left no trace and were not missed until Monday morning.

That they had accomplices is certain, for in Bill Dalton's cell, a bar of wood had been inserted in place of the iron one. A team belonging to G. N. McKinley, which was tied in front of the Methodist church, was missing and it was supposed the prisoners took them.

Team In Tulare

The team was found tied at Tulare, and this adds strength to the impression already existing, that the fugitives are enroute to Oklahoma where the rest of the notorious gang is concealed.

Bill Dalton is still confined in his cell in the upper corridor of the jail and kept up spirits of the officers Monday morning by singing them songs suggestive of his brother's escape. "They Never Missed My Brother 'Till He Was Gone" and "They'll Never Catch Him 'Till The River Runs Dry."

The songs were so pointed that Bill was put in a dark cell so as not to wound the feeling of the officials. The Southern Pacific Railroad company offers a reward of $3,000 for the return of Dalton to the sheriff's office in Visalia.

A buggy containing three men was seen by several parties on the road between Visalia and Tulare Saturday night. The men waved their arms and yelled as if drunk. They are believed to be the jail breakers.

Justice Mocked

It would seem that after postponing sentence for two months after the conviction of Dalton for the commission of one of the most atrocious murders ever done in the county, the judge extended the time again on the paltry pretext that the court reporter had not transcribed the testimony in the case. Meanwhile, the prisoner escapes and justice is mocked, but the people suffer their sentence in the way of costs for the great abortion.

If Grat Dalton had been in San Quentin where he ought to have been two months ago, he might be behind the bars.

And after spending about $40,000 for a new jail to safely keep its prisoners, the county has the mortification to see that the money has been spent in vain. It looks as if there was criminal carelessness, if nothing worse.

Olive Fertilizer Needs Determined By Tree Growth

Number of new shoots and size of leaves determines the needs of olive trees for fertilizer, according to Karl W. Opitz, Tulare county farm advisor.

Trees with short, scanty new growth and small leaves usually need more nitrogen; large leaves and heavy new growth usually indicate use of less nitrogen. Heavy pruning may give the same effect as heavy applications of nitrogen in relation to tree growth.

In Tulare county experiments, nitrogen application does not seem to effect the crop the year it is applied. There is no conclusive evidence that Tulare county soils generally require supplemental fertilization with phosphorous and potash for olives.

FIRST HILLTOP EASTER SERVICE HELD ON SCENIC HEIGHTS IN 1914

It was first thought to locate it on some point on Rocky Hill, but the Scenic Heights location was more desirable on account of its proximity to the town. At the first gathering, there were only 25 persons. They held a service of song and prayer. The novelty of the idea, the glory of sunrise over the Sierra Nevada mountains and the vast expanse of foothills and valley and the religious thrill of the simple but very devotional service created the purpose of making this an annual Easter morning event.

For a number of years, the service was held by this group of young people. But the growing interest of the people, increasing attendance and the need of enlarging the program features led to a number of churches joining in the observance and the ministers and choirs taking charge of the service in turn.

Rotary Club

In the year 1926-27, the Porterville Rotary club came into the picture. Many of the Rotarians attended these Easter Services. One member, Bob Kendall, took up the idea of the club making a project for the year the erection of a permanent cross on Scenic Heights.

Carl Loyd was club president and, under his leadership, the club became enthused with the idea and the result will be evident for, shall we say, "All time to come, a cross enduring to the stars."

The materials for the monument were donated by the Granite Quarry company. The Rotary club paid for the labor of preparing the granite blocks—the one from which the huge cross was hewn and the immense block that forms the foundation upon which the cross rests, also the expense of transporting these to the location and putting them in place.

Lots Donated

The amount paid by the Rotary club was about $700. The lots comprising the site were donated by Harry C. Carr, Jesse Frame, Fred Velle and the heirs of V. D. Knupp.

The cross was dedicated by the Rotary club, April 12, 1927, with appropriate ceremonies. The property was presented to the city of Porterville and the people of this district, to be an enduring memorial of the Christian faith in immortality and to give its message of hope and joy to coming generations: Life is triumphant over death.

The Southern California Edison company extended a line to a point near the monument so that an electric light flare might be thrown on the cross at night for a short time before Easter.

Treanor Building Gets Recognition

World recognition has been accorded the new Treanor Equipment company building in Delano, since pictures of the building have been selected by H. H. Harris, Los Angeles industrial designer, for inclusion in a panel of his work to be shown at the Seventh Pan American Congress of Architects in Havana, Cuba, in April.

Following the Congress, this same panel will be shown at the 1950 national convention of the American Institute of Architects; then, on loan to the State Department, it will be made part of a traveling exhibit which will be sent into many foreign lands where the people are clamoring to see the latest in American architectural and construction design.

It is interesting to consider that this store in Delano may form the model on which similar structures throughout the world will be patterned.
